

Do you have a funding need? Are you interested in applying for a grant?

Kellogg & Sovereign Consulting offers comprehensive grant writing services including assisting the client with analyzing data, researching, developing the project, writing the proposal, and managing the award. The experience is custom to the client but includes all aspects of the grant process to ensure fundable proposals. Let Kellogg & Sovereign grant consultants guide you through the process. We make it smooth, straightforward, and achievable.

Please respond to the quick assessment below to learn more about your organizational grant readiness.

Readiness	Yes	No
Do you have the administrative capacity to manage money, contracts, and financial reports?
Do you have the programmatic capacity to manage program development, setup, implementation, evaluation, and sustainability?
Do you have the resources to build and maintain stakeholder relationships?
Are you eligible to receive funds from government funders, private foundations, or corporations?
Does your organization have a good governing board?
Are your organizational leaders experienced and committed?
Do you know your mission without googling it?
Does your organization have a strategic plan that guides your work?
Have you conducted an assessment recently that helped your district understand what needs to be addressed to lead to improvement?
Were needs identified?
Have needs been prioritized?
Has a root cause analysis been conducted on each prioritized need?
Can you describe what problem needs to be addressed?
Do you have an idea for a project to implement to address the problem?
Can you describe who would benefit from your proposed project?
Do you have a clear laid-out strategy to accomplish what you intend to do?
Can you measure the outcome of your work?
Do you know who else is doing similar work on this issue?
Can you explain how your work is distinct from theirs?
Do you have a collaborative relationship with others doing similar work?
Do you have a project budget that fits within your overall budget?
Can your organization respond to deadlines and benchmarks in a timely manner?
Does your organization have the required commitment on the part of all those who could affect the success or failure of the proposal?
Do you have the appropriate infrastructure to support the project and to ensure that you can spend the funds within the required time frame?
Is your solution based on research?
Have you located a grant opportunity that you are interested in learning more about or applying?

Contact Kellogg and Sovereign Consulting to begin your journey in funding your improvement efforts.
Jason Coggins – jcoggins@kelloggllc.com office (405) 561-0221 Cell (405) 812-1641